A PUBLICITY COMMUNIQUE FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Cinnaminson, NJ--

Habitat for Humanity® of Burlington County, NJ (HFHBCNJ) has teamed up with the HandsOn Network and Walt Disney World® Resorts to promote volunteering in the community by rewarding free tickets to “the greatest place on earth”.

Joining the various participating nonprofit organizations is the Habitat ReStore of Burlington County. The ReStore is a retail operation that sells donated building materials and household items to the general public at steeply discounted prices. These are often overstocked, discontinued, or slightly damaged goods donated by area businesses, or gently used items donated by individuals. Participants of the increasingly popular “Give a Day. Get a Disney Day.” program are able to spend a day volunteering at the ReStore, to receive a one-day voucher to any Disney theme park.

The nationwide service program hopes to inspire one million people to give back by volunteering in their community. “Volunteering at the ReStore offers a great opportunity for people to get a better understanding of Habitat’s mission,” said ReStore Manager Marianne Reddick. “It provides a significant amount of funding for the affordable housing program and offers alternative solutions to throwing away useful material.”

For more information regarding the Disney program or how you can volunteer with the Burlington County Habitat for Humanity® Affiliate and ReStore, visit www.habitatbcnj.org.

Habitat for Humanity is an ecumenical Christian organization whose mission is to eliminate poverty housing and make decent shelter obtainable for all. Habitat promotes homeownership by building and reconstructing houses with volunteers and families eligible for assistance.
